

A LITTLE BIRD IS SINGING.

A little bird is singing in my heart;
 A stronger than was he for four long years;
 His song once made his enemies, with joy and tears,
 To meet again—and sing with maddest merriment
 The Song of Peace.
 One cannot even yet believe it true—
 That peace is all the sorrow and the pain;
 That Peace has returned, having, once again,
 And made us all the world for ever new,
 And War is past.

See all the mighty peacemakers of War
 Which killed heroes summoned to their aid
 Achieved the victory so long delayed,
 And brought about by force of martial law
 The end desired!
 Yet—though the world may stand amazed,
 And our success surpasses our greatest hopes,
 The final battle has fallen from the air.
 The final push is ended—God is praised!
 The last shot fired!

Thank God for men whose hearts beat true—we know
 They bled with longing hearts the Empire's end,
 And found the greater sacrifice of all;
 Thank God for women who stood and then—though
 Their hearts bled too!
 And those who died—for these give heartful thanks
 We owe to them the peace we compassed!
 With all the joy of victory, I stand
 Remembering those low-crowned heads
 Of cheering dead!

The killed world is singing as I write
 The song the little Bird of Peace sings;
 An echo of a theme that heavenly choirs,
 With seven-voiced voices, day and night,
 Might sing to
 We thank our God of mercy to the Lord,
 And thank that we could ridly have defeat;
 God help us, with our victory complete,
 And send true love living to their loved ones,
 To satisfy us!

—BY KIRBY

PEACE

VICTORY CELEBRATION IN BRISBANE.

The Procession in Queen-street on Tuesday.

Third photo

U.S.A.

The life of the front soldier from France and Belgium covered a wide area, but this photograph is typical of the work as all made they have had to work.

—British official photographer.

U.S.A.

This scene offers a more pleasing prospect than that above. It represents the British soldiers during World War I, the British war.

—Canadian official photographer.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION HELD ON THE IMPERIAL OVAL
LAST WEEK

Bombardiers were freely exploded in Queen's Street

Photograph one of the many motor cars that crowded Queen's Street

GRAND IN THE PEACE TRIAL

The grandest trial ever held in the history of the Peace Trial will be held in the grandest theatre in the city.

Around some of the "strong Points" for Speakers at the Exhibition Grounds

Reinforce- ments.

T. M. Ashmun

J. W. Alden

A. Allen

S. G. Angel

E. C. Arnsper

W. A. Arkell

F. Ashmun

H. T. Baldwin

P. Ballard

T. D. Barker

C. W. Barnes

C. Bate

J. G. Beasley

W. L. Bernice

P. L. Biegel

J. Boon

H. P. Boyne

E. B. Boyne

D. Brantley

T. F. Brantley

J. B. Brantley

T. Caral

J. W. Carney

A. H. Carney

J. Carney

J. Chapman

J. Chapman

G. Chisholm

Reinforce- ments

T. M. Ashmun

V. F. Bull

W. Dabbs

E. S. DeLong

A. H. Diller

G. Dooling

H. L. Doby

W. B. Howard

A. Hoxby

E. Haggood

C. W. Harrell

H. E. Krammer

J. P. Hale

T. F. Harrison

G. D. Hyman

J. Pitt

A. H. Kerns

T. R. Shipe

W. G. Magnuson

E. E. Gault

A. E. Gault

A. Ashtown

J. Thompson

J. Turner

H. B. Witherspoon

E. G. Witherspoon

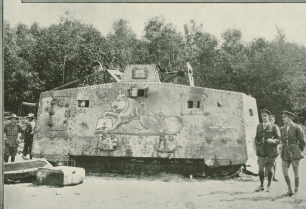

G. E. Witherspoon

G. E. Witherspoon

WITH THE AUSTRALIANS IN FRANCE.

Australian Field Artillery limbers bringing up ammunition.

Australian official photo.
Copyright

An enemy tank seized by British officers for the Australian War Museum.

UNITED NATION SERVICE FOR FALLEN SOLDIERS AT THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS.

Total, phone.

General View.

Arrival of Wounded Returned Soldiers.

ARMISTICE CELEBRATION IN TOWNSHIP

A collection of photos.

The Procession in Riverside Street.

"Liberty."

"Peace."

Township Chamber of Commerce.

The High School Band at the Armistice.

"The Allies."